

SUNY Civic Education and Engagement and Civil Discourse Fellows: Fall 2024 Civic Learning and Civic Engagement Online Series

Join the SUNY Civic Education and Engagement and Civil Discourse Fellows in systemwide conversations about the meaning and importance of civic education and engagement. Beginning September 17th, the Fellows invite the SUNY community to participate in one or more of the events in the Fall 2024 Civic Learning and Civic Engagement Online Series. More information and the registration link are available at <https://sunycpd.eventsair.com/cewfa24> or with the QR code below.

9/17: Hot Moments in the Classroom: Keeping the Temperature Comfortable

9/17: Virtual Dialogue: Our Freedom of Speech + the Perils of Misinformation

9/24: Case Study: Course Development using AI and Civic Discourse

10/1: STEM Education IS Civic Education

10/15: Artificial Intelligence and Technology Effects on Politics and Civic Engagement

10/29: The Highway that Racism Built

The event on September 17, 2024, from 4:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m., “Our Freedom of Speech + the Perils of Misinformation,” is a virtual dialogue specifically geared toward students.

This dialogue is an opportunity to collaboratively explore and discuss the complexity of today’s media and information landscapes in relation to a commitment to our freedom of speech. We will discuss the roles and responsibilities of news media, misinformation and disinformation in shared digital spaces, our individual information consumption habits, and the increasing influence of artificial intelligence.

Students will meet with other students from across the SUNY system to discuss, think about, and share thoughts on these topics in small groups via Zoom. This SUNY-wide dialogue will explore these questions in a non-partisan manner.
