

Program Review Kickoff: Embarking on a Collaborative Journey Toward Continuous Improvement!

The 2024-25 Program Review season has officially kicked off! This year, several programs are on the schedule, including:

- Business Information Management A.A.S., Office Technologies Certificate, Social Media Certificate
- Chemical Dependency A.A.S. & Certificate
- Culinary Arts A.O.S.
- Homeland Security & Emergency Management A.S.
- Liberal Arts & Sciences A.A.
- Engineering Science A.S.
- Environmental Science A.S.
- Nursing A.A.S. (ACEN Self-Study)

The Program Review process provides a valuable opportunity for faculty to reflect, assess, and enhance their academic programs. Utilizing a standard template, they delve into an assessment of Program Learning Outcomes (PLOs), Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs), and Institutional Learning Outcomes (ILOs). Faculty also explore student data on enrollment, retention, persistence, and graduation, while evaluating how well their programs align with labor market needs and transfer pathways. This structured assessment conducted collaboratively by program faculty sparks continuous program improvement and provides enhanced opportunity for program faculty to connect with various partners across the College to develop new and enhanced ways to support student success.

Curious about the Program Review process? You can find helpful resources on our Institutional Effectiveness webpage, including learn more about what a program review is, what a self-study for an accredited program is, find the program review schedule for the next few years, and download the Program Review Guidelines, which provides an overview of the entire process.