

Do you want to make a difference with younger generations?

If so, consider joining SUNY Broome's PEP Squad. This club brings college women together to support females of color who are Phenomenal, Educated & Powerful (PEP).

This club builds relationships on campus with other women interested in exploring the world beyond your boundaries and harnessing that power for a greater good. Through self-reflection, cultural awareness, leadership training, mentoring and service, your participation on the PEP Squad could phenomenally change your world!

This club is currently in partnership with Union Endicott High School and provides mentorship to young females of color. We also invite successful professionals to our meeting to share their words of wisdom with you.

If you would like additional information or just want drop in and say hello at one of the monthly meetings, we would love to meet you!
