

$500 prize: New Hornet wins big at the Bookstore

May 11, 2015

Johanna Sinclair began her SUNY Broome education on a winning note: she's the recipient of a $500 gift certificate from the College's Bookstore.

Johanna, of Whitney Point, recently attended the College's Open House, a popular and well-attended event that highlights SUNY Broome's programs, student services and more. While there, she was entered in the grand prize drawing.

"Congratulations! The early bird really does get the worm," President Drumm told Johanna as she stopped by campus with her family.

"I was really surprised. This is definitely going to help me out," she said.

Johanna plans to major in Business Management. Her goal, she said, is to own her own floral and garden business. Known in her family for her green thumb, she currently works at WP Greenery in her hometown and "just fell in love" with the business.

While on campus Monday, she and her family met with President Drumm, Vice President Debra Morello, bookstore manager Ryan Snyder and Admissions Director Jenae Norris – and posed for a few photos.

"You've got a great school here!" her father, John Sinclair, told President Drumm.
