

Congratulations to Marcia B., who won tickets to 'The Rewrite'

January 30, 2015

Congratulations to Marcia B., who won two VIP passes to the premiere of "The Rewrite." SUNY Broome raffled off the tickets, using a random number generator to select the winner.

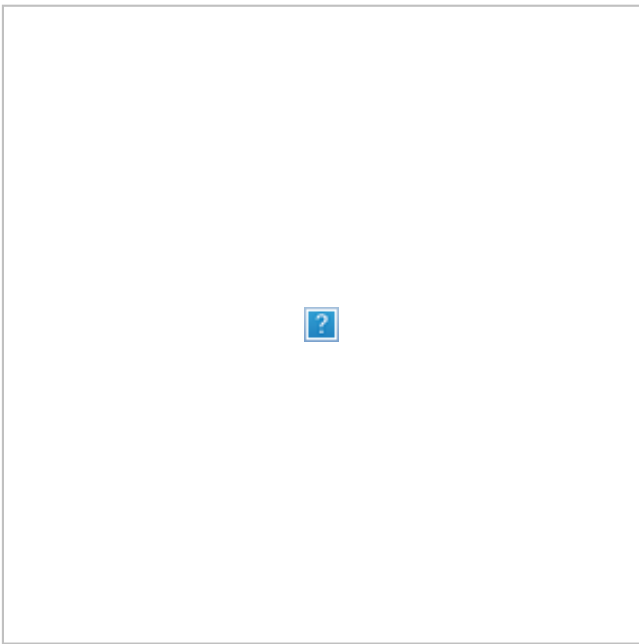

The premiere will take place at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 8, at Anderson Center's Osterhout Concert Theater, located at Binghamton University.

The film, written and directed by Binghamton University Alumnus Marc Lawrence and starring Hugh Grant and Marisa Tomei, features the BU campus and the Binghamton area. It tells the story of a down-on-his-luck yet award-winning screenwriter (Grant) who is given an opportunity to teach at a university, where he hopes to focus on writing another hit. There, he's distracted by a student (Tomei), a single working mother trying to earn her degree.

"We've decided instead of going to the usual cliché, boring places to do a premiere, like New York or Los Angeles or London, we're coming to the vacation capital of America — Binghamton, New York — on February 8," Lawrence said in a Binghamton University release. "And I'm going to be coming up with Hugh Grant and some other members of the cast, and a lot of thermal underwear. We're really, really excited, and we can't wait to see you!"

Following the movie at 5 p.m., there will be a discussion of the project with Lawrence and Hugh Grant. VIP pass holders are also invited to a special pre-reception before the movie and receive a prop used in the film.

Not a winner? The second wave of tickets will be made available to the general public from noon to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 3. Each day, the first five people in line will receive a Binghamton University-related prop used during production of the film.

Hugh Grant will appear on campus at a special screening of the movie “The Rewrite.” In this scene from the movie, Grant is in the campus bookstore.
