

Mexican art professor to visit SUNY Broome, co-teach course in the fall

June 2, 2015

Art Professor Jose Alfonso Guevara López is visiting from the University of Monterrey in Mexico (UDEM) and is a member of SUNY's Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL) Latin American Academy. He will be co-teaching a COIL Course with SUNY Broome faculty during the Fall 2015 semester, and students from both schools will work together online on class projects.

López and Lynda Carroll, SUNY Broome anthropology/archaeology instructor and COIL faculty member, will present "Herencia/Heritage" at noon June 11 in Titchener Hall Room 101 and share their plans for co-teaching in the fall. Afterward, López, whose work focuses on New Media Arts, will present a showcase of his student videos from 1 to 2 p.m. in the same venue.

SUNY Broome will host López and his video installation "Viajando," from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 12, in Titchener 101. All are welcome.

This event is funded by SUNY Broome, UDEM, and a SUNY COIL grant underwritten by Santander Bank.
