

Sept. 27 community forum to address 'After Ferguson: Searching for Justice and Peace'

September 10, 2015

SUNY Broome Professor Scott Corley will be the moderator for "After Ferguson: Searching for Justice and Peace" from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27 at the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Binghamton.

The community forum is being presented by the UUCB's Social Justice Committee in partnership with multiple community organizations. It's designed to assess the state of local race relations and explore viable strategies to avoid tragedies such as those witnessed across the nation.

The forum will be held at the Unitarian Universalist Congregation located on 183 Riverside Drive in Binghamton. Six local panelists will briefly present their perspectives and audience participation will be encouraged. The event is free and open to the public (goodwill donations will be accepted).

The panel includes:

- Vicky Brown and John E. Jones, Broome-Tioga NAACP
- Sean Massey, Binghamton Human Rights Commission
- Lawrence D. Parham, Citizen Action of the Southern Tier
- Shawna Stevenson, SUNY Broome Community College Student
- Denise Yull, Broome County Urban League

The moderator for the forum will be Scott Corley, a member of the History, Philosophy, and Social Sciences Department at SUNY Broome.

The program is supported by:

- Binghamton Human Rights Commission
- Broome County Urban League
- Broome-Tioga Green Party
- Broome-Tioga NAACP
- Broome County Peace Action
- Broome County Nuclear Weapons Reduction Campaign
- Broome County Veterans for Peace
- Catholic Charities Justice & Peace Resource Center
- Citizen Action of the Southern Tier of NY

- Progressive Leaders of Tomorrow (PLOT)
