

The Monday Poem: 'Home' by Warsan Shire

September 20, 2015

The Monday poem is brought to you by Jim Gormley of the English Department.

'Home' by Warsan Shire

no one leaves home unless home is the mouth of a shark you only run for the border when you see the whole city running as well your neighbors running faster than you breath bloody in their throats the boy you went to school with who kissed you dizzy behind the old tin factory is holding a gun bigger than his body you only leave home when home won't let you stay.

no one leaves home unless home chases you fire under feet
hot blood in your belly it's not something you ever thought of doing until the blade burnt threats into your neck
and even then you carried the anthem under your breath
only tearing up your passport in an airport toilets sobbing as each mouthful of paper made it clear that you wouldn't be going back.

you have to understand, that no one puts their children in a boat unless the water is safer than the land no one burns their palms under trains
beneath carriages
no one spends days and nights in the stomach of a truck feeding on newspaper unless the miles travelled means something more than journey. no one crawls under fences no one wants to be beaten pitied

no one chooses refugee camps or strip searches where your body is left aching or prison,
because prison is safer than a city of fire and one prison guard
in the night
is better than a truckload of men who look like your father no one could take it no one could stomach it no one skin would be tough enough

go home blacks
refugees
dirty immigrants
asylum seekers
sucking our country dry niggers with their hands out they smell strange savage messed up their country and now they want to mess ours up
how do the words
the dirty looks
roll off your backs
maybe because the blow is softer than a limb torn off or the words are more tender than fourteen men between your legs

or the insults are easier to swallow

than rubble
than bone
than your child body
in pieces.
i want to go home,
but home is the mouth of a shark home is the barrel of the gun and no one would leave home unless home chased you to the shore unless home told you to quicken your legs leave your clothes behind crawl through the desert wade through the oceans drown
save
be hunger
beg forget pride your survival is more important no one leaves home until home is a sweaty voice in your ear saying-

leave,
run away from me now i dont know what i've become but i know that anywhere is safer than here
